WITHOUT GLOVES

Washington voices now are shouting what they used to whisper. The issue of which faction is going to control the Democratic party in 1940 is being handled without gloves.

The purges are speaking their pieces and speaking them bluntly. The purges are given credit for a major move in blanketing Harry Hopkins and Frank Murphy into the presidential cabinet.

Particularly interesting is the case of Mr. Hopkins, the spending symbol, who now is to become the mediator between the new deal faction and the business community.

The apparent strategy of making him head of the department of commerce is to win business support for new dealers at the expense of the conservative faction within the party which was depending on the sympathy of moderates to regain party control.

Mr. Hopkins' job, in other words, is to create confidence where confidence hasn't existed. It is a sufficiently important role to justify the surmise that he is being groomed as the new deal candidate for president in 1940.

Fortunately, from a national standpoint, it is a move which promises to be beneficial whether it turns out successfully or not. That is, it is aimed at restoration of business confidence. Businessmen and all who believe that "what helps business helps them" now know that both factions in the Democratic party, as well as the entire Republican party, are working toward the same end.

When it is considered how disturbing has been the suspicion in recent years that the group controlling the Democratic party was working toward some other purpose—that there had ceased to be agreement on the end as well as the means of party politics—the reason for being encouraged by the new shape of things is plain.

CONDITION WILL TELL

The tell-tale fact about aggressor nations is, of course, the disproportionate cost of their war machinery. Germany and Italy, for instance, no longer consider it feasible to publish figures on their national financing.

As Alfred M. Landon told the Kansas Press-Scout, "financial reserves are just as important as military reserves." Or as a spokesman for Japan once said to have told Theodore Roosevelt, the strongest detail of national defense in the United States is not its navy but the resources of the United States treasury.

The present tendency in discussion of national policy is to determine it by the standard of national defense. It has been evident that the Roosevelt administration is trying to use preparedness as a political appeal. "A sound fiscal policy," Mr. Landon reminds the opposition, "is prerequisite to preparation for military or naval defense. It is prerequisite, as well, to preparation for economic conflict."

In the long pull, condition determines the outcome, whether the issue lie between athletes or governments. A new, strong argument for financial soundness has been created.

A SPECK IN THE OCEAN

The oil tanker which picked up survivors of the floundering flying boat Cavalier might easily have missed the low-lying wreckage of the helpless plane. Only diligence in continuing the search averted another major tragedy of aviation.

There will be accidents as long as planes fly over water. Until some way has been discovered to make the relatively insignificant speck of a plane in trouble easily visible, rescue will continue to be a mixture of luck and skill.

Survivors of the Cavalier can thank skill for the fact they're alive, but luck, had it been bad instead of good, might have left them stranded in the ocean within sight of a rescuer who could not see them. That is one of the major perils of flight over water.

JAPAN'S DISTURBED

When militarists propose fortifications on the island of Guam as a national defense measure, their cards are on the table, face up.

They no longer are making any attempt to hide the fact that defense also means offense. Guam is 1,500 miles east of Japan. It is 2,000 miles west of Hawaii. "Fortification of Guam would be like placing a gun against the gate of a neighbor," says a Japanese spokesman.

That cannot be denied. It is a truth so evident

ONE-HOUSE PLAN FACES "GOING-OVER"

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—The latest proposal for a constitutional amendment to give Ohio a one-house legislature seems due for a thorough raking over the coals.

Opponents of the one-house theory not only object to revision of the present bicameral system, but some leaders of unicameral movements in former years also express dissatisfaction with the resolution introduced by the 93rd general assembly by Rep. Martin E. Blum (R., Cuyahoga).

Blum's Plan

Blum's plan calls for a single-house general assembly composed of one senator from each of the state's 22 congressional districts and one representative from each of 80 assembly districts to be established under provisions of the amendment.

Senators would receive twice the salary of representatives and would meet separately between general assembly sessions as a legislative council to make investigations, consider appropriations and prepare legislation.

Some unicameral proponents regard Blum's amendment as setting up a bicameral legislature in disguise.

"It's the same old wolf in sheep's clothing," asserted Dr. Harvey Walker, Ohio State university professor who in 1937 assisted in drafting a one-house legislature proposal for Ohio.

Walker contended that the double salary and legislative council duties of senators under the Blum plan would give them a distinction that would separate the interests of the two groups in the general assembly.

Urban and Rural

Blum's resolution provided that the counties of the state be divided between urban and rural and that the two groups be granted equal representation in the legislature.

Some opponents of the plan termed this an "unwarranted compromise" to encourage the support of rural legislators. They cited figures to show that in 1930 the that in Washington it is believed the proposal to fortify the island may be a threat for diplomatic purposes.

From a military standpoint, the only reason for fortifying Guam would be to establish a basis for attack on Japan in the event that country launched an attack on the United States. It follows that the Japanese, who categorically deny that they ever would attack this country, interpret the proposal, not as a measure of defense, but as a measure of offense. They are "disturbed," a feeling shared by many Americans who are not yet advanced sufficiently in the doctrine of national defense to comprehend that it entails national offense.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, January 25

A DAY of rather drastic action may be looked for, according to the lively lunar and mutual aspects. Things may be pitched at high tension, with tendencies toward reckless, aggressive and impulsive actions, which may result in a web of entanglements, plots or schemes difficult to maneuver. It will take some cleverness and ingenuity to cope with deceptive situations or treacherous friends.

Those whose birthday it is may have an extremely lively and active year, with affairs moving at concert pitch. While there may be some encouraging results, there is the menace of entanglements, intrigues or fraudulent connections which may call for much skill and integrity to sidestep. Treachery of some friends may be offset by the aid of an elderly person.

A child born on this day will be enterprising, aggressive and have much constructive ability, but it may be disposed to expediency and strategem rather than forthright ways of attaining its objectives.

WINONA

Mrs. Leiber Barber was hostess at a family dinner party Sunday, celebrating the birthday of Mr. Barber which occurs the 26th, and that of Misses Vera and Verna Barber, nieces, which was Saturday.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray and daughter, Betty Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wilson and Miss Mildred Barber, all of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Barber and daughters of Winona. The afternoon was spent socially.

The Winona Gurney Missionary society met last week at the home of Mrs. Mary Whitacre and Mrs. Ida Stratton. Mrs. W. C. Stout conducted the devotions. The program included a reading, "China's Missionary Return to Nanking," also a letter from Ethel Naylor, Mrs. Stout read a letter from Robert and Elizabeth Earle in India; Mrs. Whitacre read a poem, "Preparation for the New Year," and also, "A Jewel from the Jingles—Monika."

Clarence and Robert Ward of Salem were guests of Mrs. Whitacre and Mrs. Stratton, Sunday.

Rev. Joseph Speas returned from evangelical services near Columbus Saturday, and has now left for Springfield to conduct services this week.

Dr. Elsie Kirk of Media, Pa., attended the funeral of Joshua Brantingham, Sunday, returning home Sunday evening. Dr. Kirk is a son of Mrs. Mary Brantingham.

David Bassinger, 5-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Bassinger of North Canton, has spent the past two weeks as guest of his aunt, Mrs. J. C. Pottorf.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk" and "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft, "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

What's Best Help We Can Give the Old? Asks Doctor

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Geriatrics, the specialty which treats of old age, is based on three fundamental principles:

(1) That old age is a physiologic condition, like childhood, and not a diseased state of maturity.

(2) That disease in old age is a morbid condition in a normally degenerating organ, and not a disease such as we find in maturity complicated by degenerations.

(3) That the care of old age should have as its object the restoration of the diseased organ or tissue to the state normal for old age and not to a condition normal for maturity.

Changes To understand the second and third of these principles, it is necessary to have a full appreciation of the first, which concerns the changes—normal physiologic, inevitable changes—that occur in old age. Perhaps the most fundamental understanding necessary about them is that they occur and that they must be faced. There is nothing more disgusting than the Pollyanna attempts to talk about "old age deferred" and life beginning at forty.

The essential change in the tissues of old age is a waste of tissue. In every case where the tissue is replaced by other tissue, the new tissue is of a lower order, requiring less blood supply. This compensation takes a great burden off the heart and arteries of the aged. We wonder as we look at old people with their thickened arteries, how they keep nourished so well. It is because their tissues do not require so much blood. This leads, of course, to lowered activity and this lowered activity is itself a compensation.

All Tissues Atrophy All tissues share in this atrophy—the bones, the skin, the joints, the tissues of the lungs, the kidneys, the brain, and the heart. The change in the bones and the joints is seen in the shortening of height, and the fragility of the hands and feet.

The digestive system in old age holds up very well. It is a matter of astonishment to the younger, casual observer how good the appetite is and how much the aged can eat. They appear greedy, but it must be remembered this is one of the few real pleasures they have left. It is at once their pleasure and their burden. They pay for it with one of the most constant and characteristic diseases of old age—irritation of the bowel. If old folks didn't think there was something the matter with their intestines, they wouldn't be old folks.

Immune

One other advantage they have—they are not subject to contagious diseases. The young mother with her first child or two wonders where all the measles and whooping cough in the world come from. She doesn't have to worry about grandmother and grandfather catching them, though. They have acquired their immunity.

Two or three general pieces of advice about the care of the aged follow from these general ideas:

One is, do not try to change their habits too fast or too drastically. They are quite capable of changing their own habits, impelled by their own physical necessities.

Then, what they need more than anything else, is cheering up. The very use of the words "old age" I write this article pains me and must pain those interested. The aged are likely to be depressed; they are very sensitive and like to be praised. Psychotherapy is the most important form of treatment for them.

Third, they must be kept up and as active as possible. Bed is a good place for infants, not for the old.

In Reich's Finance Shakeup

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht

Dr. Walther Funk

Drastic changes in Germany's financial and economic setup were foreseen as result of appointment of Dr. Walther Funk (right) minister of economics, to succeed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht (left), as president of the Reichsbank, ending Schacht's efforts to solve the Jewish refugee problem. Schacht remains a member of Hitler's cabinet, being kept on hand for "special assignments."

Ohio population was 67.8 per cent urban. They contended that urban centers should have proportionately greater representation.

Blum's plan would give impeachment power to the legislative council with trial by the general assembly. Another suggestion favored by some unicameral advocates would provide trial by the state supreme court after impeachment by the general assembly.

It was considered likely that other unicameral legislature resolutions would be submitted to the 93rd assembly in the hope that a legislative committee would be able to combine features of various proposals and work out an amendment satisfactory to all factions.

Walker also has been leader in a group which has been considering a referendum to permit the electorate to vote on a one-house legislative proposal.

Garden Club Has Meeting; New Members Are Received

Mrs. L. W. Matthews, president, presided at a meeting of the Salem Garden club Monday afternoon in the Memorial building.

An interesting program has been planned for the year, a highlight of which will be the annual flower show in August.

Mrs. C. E. McCluggage read an interesting letter from Miss Effie Cameron, advisor for the Junior High school garden club. Activities and programs of the recently organized junior group were described in the letter.

Three new members, Mrs. Marie Roth, Mrs. E. I. Smith, and Mrs. Carl Asmus, were welcomed during the meeting.

Mrs. R. H. McConor, program chairman, was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Ina Yengling conducted a quiz on "Botanical Names," in which Mrs. C. R. Votaw had the largest number of correct answers.

Mrs. R. E. Smith read "The Log of the Practical Gardener," written by Mrs. W. S. Boale.

Following the meeting flower arrangements and a gourd exhibit were shown.

The Junior High School Garden club will have a display of terrariums at the next Garden club meeting, Feb. 27, at the home of Mrs. Andrew MacLeod on South Lincoln ave.

Sparkle Bee Club Has Program

Mrs. Philip Schmidt, Mrs. Andrew Anderson and Mrs. P. J. Casara were guests of the Sparkle Bee club at a meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Edwin Deagan on West Third st.

Three tables of bridge were in play. Club prizes went to Miss Helen Kaley and Mrs. Thomas Layden while the guest awards were presented to Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Schmidt.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Layden was honored when the club members presented her a gift.

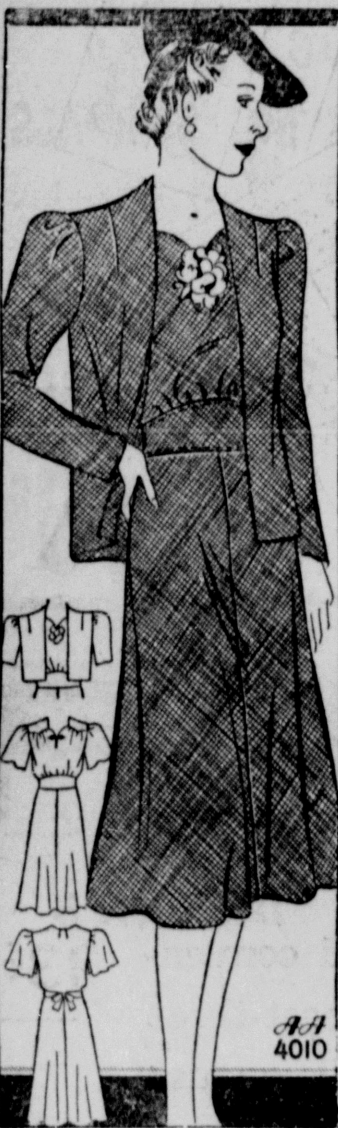

Lunch was served at a beautifully arranged table. A bright colored cloth was used with fiesta ware, the colors of which were duplicated in the decorations of the birthday cake for Mrs. Layden. Orchid cyclamen and white stock formed a centerpiece for the table.

The club will meet on Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Catherine Hildreth on Aetha st.

Coverdish Dinner

The Ellsworth Avenue club members will have a coverdish dinner Thursday at the home of Mrs. Howard Minser on the Ellsworth rd.

Program Is Presented By Music Club

The program presented at a meeting of the Salem Music Study club in the library assembly room Monday afternoon followed the theme of a paper on Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony" and Brahms' "First Symphony," read by Mrs. H. E. Stiver.

Mrs. Paul Covert played a piano number, "Gavotte" (Brahms). A violin solo, a group of Brahms numbers, was played by Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite, accompanied by Mrs. Covert.

Mrs. Paul Beaver and son, Paul, playing piano duets, entertained with the "Allegro" and "Andante" movements of the "Fifth Symphony" (Beethoven).

Miss Helen Derfus was hostess at the tea which was served after the meeting. The table was attractively appointed with white flowers as centerpiece.

A casserole supper will precede the annual business meeting, when officers will be elected, Feb. 13, at the home of Mrs. L. B. Harris on East Third st.

Bible Class Committees Are Appointed

Mrs. Louis Laurain, president, appointed several new committees at the meeting of the Lydia Bible class of the English Lutheran church at the home of Mrs. Floyd Moul, East Eighth st., Monday night.

Committees are: Program, Mrs. E. A. Hoch and Miss Sarah Schaefer; hosts, Mrs. Earl Dales and Miss Mary Berger; entertainment, Mrs. G. D. Keister, Mrs. Paul Ritchie and Mrs. Daryl Everett.

The program topic, "Religious Life of Washington and Lincoln," whose birthdays are celebrated next month, was in charge of Mrs. Eric Eyton.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her associates, Mrs. J. Edwin Ressler and Mrs. John Niederhiser.

The place and date for the next meeting has not been decided.

Young People's Club Enjoys Party

St. Paul's Catholic young people's club enjoyed dancing and cards at their social meeting last night at the school.

Plans were discussed for a dance to be held before the Lenten season and committees were appointed as follows to complete arrangements for the affair: Carmen McNicol, Mary Frances Juergens, Mildred Ospeck, Mary Fisher, Robert Engler, Charles Yeager and William Loutzenhiser.

A business session will be held Feb. 6.

The club, which recently presented the musical comedy "Mikol" and will repeat the production in March, was served a delightful lunch, with favors and decorations carrying out the "Mikol" theme. Favors were gypsy dolls, in keeping with the story of the play.

Announce Marriage of Daughter

Mrs. J. W. Bunts of Canfield announces the marriage of her daughter, Alice Moore, to Elmer Kuhns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Kuhns of Salem, on Jan. 7.

The marriage was performed in Wellsburg, W. Va., by Rev. H. W. Best, pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

The bride, a graduate of Greenford High school, has been employed in Youngstown for the last four years. The groom is employed as a welder by the Bliss company.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuhns will make their home here after Feb. 6.

Gold Star Auxiliary Has Card Party

The Gold Star auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars entertained at a benefit card party in the lodge hall last night.

Twelve tables were in play, with prizes awarded as follows: Pinochle Miss E. M. McLaughlin, Elvare Tullis and Robert Hacker; "500" Mrs. Albert Leach, Mr. Stubbley and Howard Stouffer of Washingtonville; door prize, Mrs. T. A. Shinn. Lunch was served following the games.

Another benefit is planned for Feb. 13 by the auxiliary members.

Emmanuel Daughters Will Install

Officers will be installed at a regular meeting of the Daughters of Emmanuel in the Emmanuel Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Subject study will be "The Child and Religion," with Mrs. John Bauman, chairman of the program committee, in charge.

Hostesses will be Mrs. John Pauline, Mrs. Simon Theiss and Mrs. John Theiss.

The condition of Russell Willard little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willard of Millville, who was seriously burned several weeks ago at his home, remains unchanged.

It's Your Irish Luck

Spring's bringing on separate and suit topcoats styled on loose-fitting lines. Some have tuxedo fronts like the model sketched, others button full length.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

FOR going away, for the races anywhere, and for right here in town or country, Irish tweed comes to the rescue of those who are weary of present wardrobes.

Unlike the matched three-piece suits of a year ago, this one plays plaid against a sharp mixture of crossbars in the jacket, and flecks in the skirt. Color, rather than fabric, is the harmonizing factor, in pink and green tones.

N. GEORGETOWN

The Women's Missionary society of the Lutheran church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Liber at Lake Placid last Monday evening.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Walter Berger and the lesson study in charge of Mrs. Rene Whitehead.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by Mrs. Liber, assisted by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ross Liber of Homeworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stoffer have purchased from the estate of the late Daniel and Susanna Bartges, the farm home now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burdick on the Westville rd. across from Lake Placid and will move there in the spring. The farm now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stoffer has been purchased by Fred Schoenl.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Jackson of Valley was the scene of a pleasant family party on Wednesday evening honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jackson. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dillion Powell and children of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Henrich of Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Knizat of Salem, R. D. 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jackson of Sebring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sañor entertained a party of young people at their home on Friday evening, honoring the 18th birthday anniversary of their son, Jacob Sañor.

A large number of the members of Emmanuel Lutheran congregation attended the funeral services for their pastor, the late Dr. O. C. Kramer, held at Trinity Lutheran church at Sebring on Friday afternoon in charge of Rev. S. D. Myers, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Alliance, assisted by Rev. H. E. Dunmore, of Warren.

The sermon was preached by Dr. Joseph Sittler of Columbus, president of the Lutheran Synod of Ohio.

Resolutions of respect were read by Rev. Maynard Stull, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church of Youngstown, representing the Lutheran Ministerial association of the Youngstown district.

HOMEWORTH

Mrs. Lucile Briggs and children, Norma Jean and Joan, of Alliance, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Rena Thomas.

Mrs. Ida Pieren was hostess to members of the Ladies' Bible class of the Presbyterian church at her home Friday afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Fyock of Alliance called on friends here Wednesday. V. L. Thomas of Alliance was a business caller here Thursday.

The family of Emmett Glass is quite ill.

Clarence Shively has returned to Jackson, Mich., accompanied by his children, Barbara Jean and Ralph, who have been visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Irwin, W. H. Parkins and S. B. Bowman have gone to Florida to spend the winter.

Columbiana Rotary Hears Talk on Banks

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 24. — The Columbiana Rotary club met Monday evening at Valley Golf club with 31 members present, and two visitors, Rotarian Harley Robey, Minerva, and Mark Klingensmith, who gave a talk on "The Importance of Banking."

Touching particularly on Ohio, Klingensmith told something of banking history and well as the various services rendered. There are 713 banks in Ohio, he said.

President Edgar Miller appointed as an "On to Cleveland" committee for the International Rotary convention in June: Elmer Detwiler, Olaf Todd and Harry Herrman. Next week's program will be in charge of Wick Fry.

The Columbiana Kiwanis club will again sponsor the President's ball, which will be held Jan. 30 at Oakdale gardens. Al Arter and his nine-piece orchestra of Lisbon will furnish music from 9 to 12. Mayor Arthur Myers has issued a statement endorsing the project and urging citizens to aid in the worthy cause. All civic and social organizations in Columbiana will sell tickets for the dance, as well as circulate coin cards provided by the national committee.

The Mary-Martha class of the Lutheran church will meet Friday afternoon, combining the January meeting with the postponed December meeting. A gift exchange and election of officers will be held. The committee in charge is Mesdames G. E. Koch, Frank Snauffer, P. H. Doss, Henry Staley, Cora Vansilver, Jacob Bowers, John Todd and Miss Lorena Staley.

The Dramatic club of the Junior Girl Reserves of Columbiana High school is planning to present a one-act play for the mother-daughter banquet to be held soon. Characters in the play, entitled "Too Much of a Good Thing" are: Carol Simpson, Ruth Culp, Georgene Kaufman, Ellen Edwards, Irene Brinker, Lois McCurry, Gladys Peppel, Helen Knight and Dorothy Allen.

Hubert Clapp, who will graduate in June from the School of Medicine of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, has been appointed intern, starting July 1, at St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland. Clapp received his A. B. degree from Oberlin college in 1934.

Give Dance Program At Grange Meeting

Students of the Bettie Lee dancing school, accompanied by their teacher, presented a 45-minute program at a meeting of Guilford grange Saturday night.

The program follows: "Melancholy Baby," musical comedy tap, "Tea for Two," and "My Walking Stick," Betty Jean Cosgrove; Spanish tap, and advance tap, Dorothy Green; song and tap, "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and swing tap, "Liza," Joanne Wise; Indian toe and jumping rope toe tap, Doris Ellis; song and tap, "When the Circus Comes to Town," Jane Weikart.

Help, Police!

POCATELLO, Idaho — Police Chief Robert M. Pugmire was offered a $10 reward for apprehension of the thieves who broke into a summer cabin near here and stripped it of cooking equipment, wall decorations and "everything that was loose."

Police are most anxious to have the property returned.

Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda in a scene from "The Mad Miss Manton", showing Wednesday at the State theater.

"The Mad Miss Manton," featuring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, shows at the State Wednesday only following "Stand Up and Fight," starring Robert Taylor and Wallace Beery, which shows at the State for the last times tonight.

A happy combination of mystery, comedy and romance, "The Mad Miss Manton" is a "different" type of mystery story.

Miss Stanwyck has the role of an irresponsible, thrill-seeking society girl whose escapades arouse the ire of a serious minded young newspaper editor. He attacks her through the columns of his paper.

Don't Believe Her

Because of the reputation she and her debutante pals have gained for their pranks, Miss Stanwyck is disbelieved by police when she reports finding a body in a deserted house. Enraged at the attitude of both the police and of Fonda, she decides to solve the mystery by herself, and with the loyal aid of her group of feminine companions, she sets to work.

The discovery of a second body, attempts to kill Miss Stanwyck for her curiosity, the growth of a romance and the final exciting moments when the harassed police employ the frightened heroine as the "bait" in a trap for the murderer, make for plenty of thrills as the story unfolds. The result is a really noteworthy piece of screen entertainment.

Fonda is the newspaperman Sam Levene plays the police lieutenant and Miss Stanwyck's "gang" — Frances Mercer, Vicki Lester, Eleanor Hanson, Whitney Bourne, Catherine O'Quinn, Ann Evers and Linda Terry provide splendid support along with Stanley Ridges, Lona Maricle, James Burke, Paul Guilfoye and Penny Singleton.

Double Bill at Grand

"While New York Sleeps," a murder mystery, featuring Michael Whalen, Jean Rogers, Chick Chandler and Joan Woodbury; and "Adventure in Sahara," with Paul Kelly, C. Henry Gordon and Lorna Gray in the leading roles, will be seen on Wednesday at the Grand.

Vote for Radio Strike

Frances Carlin, Gene Byron and Anne Seymour

Commercial radio sponsors, involved in the salary tug-of-war between the artists who advertise their products and the advertising agencies which produce their shows, move to intervene in a dispute which threatens a nation-wide radio strike. Local unions of the American Federation of Radio Artists in New York, Chicago and Hollywood, have authorized the federation to call a strike unless a settlement is reached with the American Association of Advertising Agencies. Radio artists demand an individual minimum of $15 for a 15-minute commercial broadcast plus $6 an hour for rehearsals. Photo shows three Chicago radio performers, who joined in the strike vote. They are Frances Carlin, Gene Byron and Anne Seymour.

MAKE PLASTIC AIRSHIPS NOW

Eastern Firm Says Several Thousand a Week Possible

BY DEVON FRANCIS
(Associated Press Aviation Editor)
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—A new type of airplane which its makers say, could be turned out at the rate of several thousand a week in a national emergency will be tested by the army air corps at Wright Field, Dayton, O., next month.
Described cautiously before the monopoly committee in Washington last Friday as having immense value for air defense, the Clark plastic plane has been flying experimentally for a year.
It has withstood speeds up to 200 miles an hour. The material from which it is molded is described as strong enough for ultrafast pursuit planes and even for small bombers.
Using 100 Clark process molds, the workers in an average-size American aircraft factory could produce 1,000 planes in an 8-hour day. A production of 10 planes a day with conventional metal materials, such as all current American combat planes are made of, is a high average in even the largest plants.
Plastic planes, made of the same stuff used for the knobs of radio receiving sets and the backs of hair brushes, may be the answer in this country to Europe's feverish production of airplanes for war purposes.
The research work in plastic airplanes was done by the Clark Aircraft Corp., of which V. E. Clark, a retired army colonel, is vice president.
The experimental machine has seats for five and is powered with a 200-horsepower motor.

Burned, Doctors Rebuilt Her

Lola Mae Smith, 12 (above), five months endured agonies while her scalded and mutilated body was being remodeled after a gallon can of tar exploded in her cabin home at Marion, Ark. The child's legs were burned to the bone and drawn back so her heels almost touched her hips. Her fingers were black and drawn so they touched her wrist. After a series of skin grafts in a Memphis, Tenn., hospital, Lola is well on her way to health.

LIQUOR DEALERS BACK NEW BOSS

Head of Distillers Unit Praises Taylor For His Program

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Jan. 24.—Col. John A. Hughes, executive director of the newly established Ohio Association of Distillers and Representatives, describes the organization's immediate goal thus: "Put the liquor business in Ohio on a legal and ethical basis."

Hughes, the state's first liquor director under former Gov. George White, yesterday at once praised State Liquor Director Jacob Taylor's proposed "clean-up" and criticized what he called the "rotten situation of the last four years."

The association, Hughes said, represents 60 distillers who stand "100 per cent in accord with Mr. Taylor's aims" concerning the $967,000,000-a-year liquor business. Taylor has warned liquor firms against shady or illegal sales practices.

"If he didn't take that stand the whole liquor industry would be booted out of Ohio," said Hughes. "This rotten situation of the last four years is going to be cleaned up, not 100 per cent all at once, for that's impossible, but maybe 75 per cent, maybe more."

Will Resign Feb. 9
He doesn't intend to resign as prosecutor until Feb. 9, when a Republican, Neal Lora, becomes common pleas judge of Allen county. Under Ohio law, a common pleas judge may fill a vacancy in the prosecutor's office.

Jones obtained authoritative advice that there was nothing to prevent him from being a congressman and a county prosecutor at the same time and that there were at least two previous cases of a member of the house retaining a state position.

Jones is married and has two children, a son, 7, and a 15-month-old daughter. He has settled his family in nearby Bethesda, Md.

Ohioans In Washington

Highlights On Legislative Activities

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Ohio has the third youngest member of congress, but he is still holding two public jobs.

Robert P. Jones of Lima, Republican representative from the Fourth district, remains county prosecutor at home, although he is only 31. Only two house members, Representative Beckworth (D., Tex.), 25, and Osmers (R., N. J.), are younger than Jones.

Jones has been running for office since he was 21, filing for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts in his home county shortly before he reached that birthday. He lost by 88 votes.

In 1934, he was elected county prosecutor, and in 1936 was re-elected. His party won only three out of 11 county offices the latter year. Before he was up for re-election again, the terms of county prosecutors were increased from two to four years and he had two years left to serve in that office when he was elected to congress.

Other Ohio activities during the week: Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.) made known his opposition to President Roosevelt's appointment of former Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan to be attorney general and Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, to be secretary of commerce, but approved the naming of Felix Frankfurter to the Supreme Court. . . . Taft, Senator Vic Donahey (D.) and three Ohio legislators asked the Social Security board to make a retroactive grant of more than $1,000,000 for October payments to the state's old age pensioners.

Review Tax Row

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24.—The state supreme court will review a decision against an Akron rubber company involving the question of whether the consumers sales tax is applicable to tires sold on a "mileage contract" basis.

A lower court had upheld the contention of a tax commissioner that such a transaction is subject to the tax and the appeal was taken by the Charleston Transit Co. and the B. F. Goodrich Tire & Rubber Co. The transit company buys tires to be paid on the basis of mileage used, at $0.0055 per mile.

Facing Death

Must Cut Relief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Ohio's WPA relief roll must be cut from 261,200 to 82,000 if the revised $725,000,000 relief appropriation bill is enacted, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) said today.

McKellar said the figures were for the total as of Dec. 31, 1938, and estimated rolls for the last week in June, 1939.

NEW PHILLY PACES SCHOLASTIC CAGE RACE

12 WINS IN ROW IS TOP RECORD IN OHIO RANKS

Salem Cagers Discover It Doesn't Pay to Be Overconfident

Practically everything that can happen in a basketball game was in the books today as a result of last week's campaigning on the Ohio scholastic basketball front.

Like many other teams, Salem High school's Quakers found it doesn't pay to be too confident of their ability. The Quakers discovered this last Saturday night when they were upset by Youngstown East, 28-22, after wallowing East Palestine, 42-21, on Friday night.

The Youngstown East defeat was the third the Quakers have suffered in eight games. They will attempt to avenge this setback this week when they face Warren's Presidents at Warren Friday night and Youngstown Chaney at home Saturday night.

Among other attention-grabbing developments last week were:

New Philadelphia's 12th straight victory for the best Class C record in the state, Jack Castagnola caging a fielder in the last few seconds to beat Mansfield 26-24.

Newark's third and fourth defeats of the year, the 1936 and 1938 state champions taking it on the chin 29-23 from Marietta Friday and 24-20 from Massillon Saturday.

Canton Lehman's 32-30 overtime win over Akron Garfield, after Garfield had won eight straight and Lehman had lost eight in a row.

And Green Township of Scioto county's 16th straight conquest, 49-25 over Lucasville, for the best Class B record in Ohio.

New Philadelphia lost the final game of the state tournament to Newark by a single point, 28-27, but hasn't been beaten since. Newark, which had beaten 24 straight Ohio opponents up to last week when Lancaster halted the string, collapsed completely against Marietta and Massillon, the champs' record for the year being six wins and four losses.

Alondra New Philip in Class A with clear records were Akron Eichel with seven wins, and Akron Eichel with six. All the other upper league teams had fallen at least once. Warren fell out of the unbeaten class after seven victories, bowing 34-25 to Canton McKinley, while the overtime upset at the hands of Canton Lehman put Akron Garfield out of the unsullied department.

A crowd of 4,000 saw Middletown win its ninth in 11 starts by beating Hamilton 32-30 at Miami university's gym, the setback being the second in 10 starts for the Big Blue, 1937 state title holder.

Massillon boosted its record to 6-2 with a 20-25 win over Alliance and the victory over Newark, the former practically clinching the Stark county laurels for the Tigers.

Canton McKinley's victory over Warren gave the Bulldogs five wins in eight starts, but cost the winners Capt. Nick Roman, All-Ohio football end, and Miami university's gym, the setback being the second in 10 starts for the Big Blue, 1937 state title holder.

Paul Anderson of Struthers also ended his high school playing days last week, scoring 20 points to beat Youngstown East 52-26. The spurge gave him 464 points for 40 games. He wasn't so bad in football last fall, either, counting 75 points in 10 games. (Note to aspiring coaches: He's going to Western Reserve.)

Paul Anderson of Struthers also ended his high school playing days last week, scoring 20 points to beat Youngstown East 52-26. The spurge gave him 464 points for 40 games. He wasn't so bad in football last fall, either, counting 75 points in 10 games. (Note to aspiring coaches: He's going to Western Reserve.)

NO-HIT HURLER SHOWS MODESTY

"I've Got Lots to Learn," Vander Meer Tells School Group

MAPLEWOOD, N. J., Jan. 24.—The only thing so rare as a day in June is a major league pitcher exhibiting modesty on a day in January, about the time the baseball guys begin asking for the kind of money they know they won't get.

Such a rarity is Johnny (I wonder how it happened) Vander Meer, the Midland Park boy who pitched two consecutive no-hit, no-run games last summer.

"I said Johnny yesterday to a crowd of high school kids, 'I am not a big league pitcher yet. I still have plenty to learn.'"

Even while he spoke these words to a bunch of youngsters who did not know whether to laugh or just blame it on the bum acoustics, Johnny was being named in Boston, Mass., as the major league player who performed the outstanding feat of the 1938 season.

The naming was done by the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The announcement said that on Feb. 3 the Cincinnati Reds' Vander Meer would be awarded the Paul Shann memorial trophy—a memorial to the late president of the association who died last week in Florida.

Held to two points in the first half, the Christians rallied in the second half but they were unable to make up for the big deficit they incurred early in the game. The Clowns led 13 to 2 at the intermission.

A. Santini, J. Santini and Nonno shared honors in the Clowns victory, while Ralph Moffet was the big gun for the Christians.

TRADESMEN TOP DEMING CAGERS FOR SIXTH WIN

Continue to Hold Lead in City Class B Cage League

There appears to be no stopping the fast-moving Trades Class cagers in the city's Class B basketball league.

Registering their sixth victory in seven games, the Tradesmen continued to lead the Class B circuit as they bowled over Demings, 25 to 20, in one of four games at the Memorial building last night.

With A. Juhn setting the pace by caging four field goals and two free throws, the Trades Class pulled away to a three-point lead in the first half and increased their margin to five points in the second half.

Juhn led the Trades in scoring with 10 points, while Tolson was high for the losers with nine points, made on four fielders and one foul.

The Carroll Cadets and Smith's Creamery remained hot on the trail of the Trades Class by posting victories in other Class B games.

The Cadets came through with their seventh victory in nine games by wallowing the Baptists, 31 to 9. The Carroll quintet held an 18 to 5 lead at halftime in gaining its one-sided victory.

Eight players who saw action for the Carroll team broke into the scoring with Ed Zilay leading the point-making with nine counters.

Posting their sixth victory in eight games, Smith's Creamery cagers bowed out the Texans, 19 to 17. It was the third defeat in eight games for the Texans.

The Christians were handed their seventh straight defeat in losing to the Carroll Clowns, 25 to 18.

Held to two points in the first half, the Christians rallied in the second half but they were unable to make up for the big deficit they incurred early in the game. The Clowns led 13 to 2 at the intermission.

A. Santini, J. Santini and Nonno shared honors in the Clowns victory, while Ralph Moffet was the big gun for the Christians.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Various Spots

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Next time Elmer Layden starts moaning about Notre Dame prospects, give him the bird....and ask him what about that Freshman fallback they go out there....This guy is so good they asked him to quit practice because he was making the varsity look bad by scoring so many touchdowns....Well, who do you like....Champion Joe or Champion John?

Most of us can name the winner, but can't spell his name....How come Archie San Romani wasn't invited to run in the Boston K. of C. games or the Wanamaker mile here?

We got a laff out of that picture of Whizzer White wearing one of those Oxford mortar boards and riding a bicycle: "Farr still is No. 1 in the hit parade." (Right-o, as the as the Mayfair boys say)....Jimmy Johnston, who owns a piece of Lewis, says if John Henry can weather the first five rounds tomorrow night he'll have a chance....That trip to the coast to beat the all-stars cost the pro football Giants money which may account for owner Tim Mara's rush to get to Hialeah.

The other day reference was made to a pair of tumps named Ruff and Tiff in the northeast Arkansas league....Now up bobs Sayreville, N. J., with a basketball referee named Genius....Right after the Louis vs. Lewis scrap, Mike Jacobs is expected to announce a Davey Day-Henry Armstrong fight; also Bob Pastor vs. the great Galento for March 31....Why is Dempsey flitting hither and yon blasting Galento?....Note to our correspondents: Are you on a sit-down strike?

What the race world wants to know is whether El Chico (who'll be the Derby future book favorite, rain or shine) can keep his speed for the mile and a quarter Derby route....The Roanoke college basketball team is getting and rating the raves in the south these days....Most of the boxing scribes here think Louis will turn the trick between the third and eighth rounds....Young Flash Gordon got the biggest raise of any of the Yankee Garden doubleheader Friday night....Those stories that Lou Gehrig was cut something awful are based on speculation only....Carl Hubbell, the grand left-hander, had an off year, but the Giants gave him the same dough he got last year ($22,500, tops for the payroll).

Ohio Quintets Divide Games

Break Even In 2 Games As Ohio State Wins, Carroll Loses

(By Associated Press)

Ohio quintets broke even, so to speak, with a pair of invading basketball powers last night.

Ohio State snared its third Western conference victory in four starts, snatching a thrilling 45 to 31 triumph from Michigan's Wolverines.

A strong finish turned the tide after Michigan grabbed a 21-24 lead shortly before the half. The Bucks whittled down their foe's margin to 23-20 by intermission, then held the Wolverines to eight markers in the second half, Capt. Jimmy Hull paced Ohio with 16 points.

Notre Dame's mighty machine meanwhile crushed John Carroll of Cleveland, 74 to 37. The Indiana cagers held forth from the start, leading at the half 44-20. Rudich, Carroll center, meshed 15 points for individual honors, but the Ramblers split up their staggering total among 'em.

The victors' 74 points represents a new scoring record for Notre Dame.

Salem Saxons Play Canton This Week

With four victories in six games to their credit, Salem Saxons cagers go to their fifth win this week when they face Canton Saxons at Canton Saturday night.

The Salem lads will be out to avenge a previous defeat handed them by Canton in the first game of the season. The local Saxons lasses will also play at Canton this week.

The Salem boys and girls teams posted victories at Lorain Saturday night, the boys winning, 46 to 31, and the girls emerging on top, 13 to 4.

Bar Pitt Athletes In Eastern Events

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24.—An Amateur Athletic Union ban on University of Pittsburgh athletes competing in open meets will keep Johnny Woodruff and other great Eastern indoor events next month.

A controversy between university and AAU officials culminated in the registration committee of the AAU's Allegheny-Mountain Association voting 6-1 to withhold traveling permits or sanctions for Pitt athletes to compete in other sections.

SHOCK TROOPS ARE BIG HELP TO STAR TEAM

Long Island U. Uses Two Teams In Playing Cage Games

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Having built up an intercollegiate giant-killer of awesome proportions, Coach Clair Bee sat still long enough today to analyze his Long Island university basketball team and attribute its success chiefly to the "shock-troop" system first popularized by Knute Rockne and Notre Dame.

The L. I. U. cagers, in pliny up 11 straight victories, have knocked over such power-houses as Marquette from the mid-west, Southern California from the far west, and Kentucky from the south. In doing so, they have split the work almost equally between a six-man group of sophomores and a six-man group of seniors.

This approach basketball heresy. Few great or even good teams of the past have had more than six high-class operatives. Bee's 1933-34-35 L. I. U. outfit, which set a major college record by winning 43 straight games, had no more than that. But the current team loses little in effectiveness no matter which group is operating.

It's not that our reserves are such extra-fine basketball players," Bee explains. "But they have terrific drive and enthusiasm. That works two ways: It keeps the pressure on our opponents, because the kids are in there digging all the time, and it keeps up the seniors to fight for their jobs."

Yet the two-team system isn't all the answer. Figuring vitally in any L. I. U. success story is the type of coaching they get.

Bee has one very definite policy, and he has stuck to it throughout his eight seasons at the Brooklyn school. He teaches his boys to shoot baskets—more baskets than the other fellow.

Since 1933, the Black-Birds have won 128 games out of 138 while scoring 6,841 points to the opposition's 3,724.

The next team to try to outshoot the Blackbirds will be the Rockets of Toledo university, who meet L. I. U. in a final of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Friday night.

L. I. U. beat Marquette without benefit of scouting. Bee himself scouted the Rockets, and has mapped out their plays and his own defenses on a miniature court. In view of that, from this corner it looks like a tough night for Toledo and 12 straight for Long Island U.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

BY GAIL STEWART

In Class B and C intramural basketball games at the High school last night, the Five Aces, Barons, Ravens and Buckeyes chalked up wins in Class B and the Falcons and Aviators won in Class C.

The Ravens had an easy time wallowing the Wildcats, 42 to 15. Antoine collected 15 of the Ravens' 43 points. Williams rang up four field goals for the losers.

The Barons, paced by Del Favero, won a tough game in holding the Pirates their first set-back, 16 to 14. Del Favero sank four field goals to score eight points. Stewart tallied six points for the losers.

The Five Aces won over the Satans, 27 to 19, with Limpore setting the pace for the winners; with 10 points and Morgan hitting 11 points for the losers.

The Buckeyes hit top stride in winning over the Tigers, 23 to 11. C. Leggett collected four field goals to score eight points for the winners while Zoccolli tallied seven points for the Tigers.

CLASS C

The Falcons took the measure of the Comets, 21 to 9, with Ellis chalking up 12 points for the Falcons and Stamp and Atkinson collecting four points apiece for the Comets.

The Eagles suffered another defeat at the hands of the Aviators, 16 to 14. Weigand and Ehrhart tallied four points apiece for the Aviators, while Wilson made three points for the losers.

Seabiscuit Races In Handicap Event

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Mighty Seabiscuit, Charles Howard's 1938 handicap king, goes postward Saturday with a field of sprinters in the six-furlong $10,000 San Felipe handicap at Santa Anita park.

A 3 to 1 favorite in the winter looks to win the $100,000 Santa Anita cup which he lost twice by a nose. Seabiscuit hasn't competed at any distance less than a mile for two years, but Trainer Tom Smith favors a trial in this week's sprint feature.

Among the Biscuit's expected rivals are Rye Beach, Airframe, Dog-ear, Speed to Spare, Leading Article and Honey Cloud.

Curb Bait-Taking

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24.—Proposed restrictions on the taking of minnows for bait are slated for discussion today when Ohio sportsmen meet with the state conservation council to advocate annual changes in fishing regulations.

Conservation Commissioner Donald Waters said.

BOWLING RESULTS

The Economy V-8's moved into first place in the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night, taking two out of three games from the Trades Class while the Althouse Motors, former leader, dropped three games to the Assorted Strikes.

In losing three games, the Motors dropped into a second-place tie with Harris Garage keepers, who took three games from Calladine's Service.

Other matches gave the Hotel Levee two wins over Floding & Reynard, and the Golden Eagle three victories over the Salem Motor, and Coy Buicks two wins over Burt Capel's Realtors.

The top-ranking Mullins Foremen of the American league continued to set the pace at the Masonic temple alleys last night, winning two out of three games with the Carroll Cagers to increase their lead over the second place Deming team, which lost two out of three games to the Electric Furnace.

The Masons won two games over the Ohio Edison and Reich Sports took two of three heats with Fernengel's Colts in other American league matches.

Farm Conservation Plan Is Discussed

LISBON, Jan. 24—Members of the Columbiana County Agricultural Conservation association, at a meeting in the courthouse Monday, discussed the 1939 agricultural conservation program.

President J. Glenn Bates of Salem was in charge while guest speaker was Christ Kainrad, Portage county district supervisor.

It was announced that each farmer in the county, before planting time, will receive pamphlets concerning the new program, telling him of the federal payments he can earn by carrying on soil building practices on the farm and by helping acreage of depleting crops with his alkali.

This will mark the first time that farmers have been so notified before planting time, it was explained. The 1939 program is similar to that of last year, except for a few changes to make the program more adaptable to county conditions.

Overheated Stove Blamed In Deaths

STUEBENVILLE, Jan. 24—Coroner Ray F. Sice blamed an overheated stove today for a fire which burned to death three little Negro girls in their one-room cabin eight miles west of here.

Their mother, Mrs. Ada Bryant Freeman, 22, saw the flames from a neighbor's home, dashed screaming to the scene but the fire prevented her from entering the cabin.

The coroner identified the victims as Frances and Estelle Bryant, aged 4 and 2 years respectively, and Shirley Ann Freeman, 8 months.

CRASH OF PLANE IS UNEXPLAINED

Survivors Land In New York; Tell How They Sang to Keep Courage

Pretty Mrs. George Ingham of Hamilton, Bermuda, said the survivors had agreed to hold a reunion Saturday on the liner Monarch of Bermuda which will carry them to Bermuda, their destination when the accident occurred.

Reports that icing conditions caused the huge 19-ton plane flew through squalls were responsible for its four motors quitting were denied by First Officer Neil Richardson.

"The Cavalier had carburetor-heating devices," he declared. "It's a complete mystery to us all how it happened."

Richardson added it was not particularly unusual for all four motors to fail almost simultaneously for brief periods in flight but "you get out of it by working the throttle."

A board of inquiry will be convened at Hamilton to investigate the disaster—first of its kind in the north Atlantic—Capt. Griffith Powell, trans-oceanic flier and executive of British Imperial Airways, announced.

Capt. M. R. Alderson, the slim little pilot who was dazed by the crash—300 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.—said the plane's fuselage was ripped open by the impact and sank within ten minutes.

"Making a deadstick landing," he explained, "we hit the water so hard the hull of the ship split and the water rushed in. It came in with such force I was washed toward the hold."

Declines to Comment
Bearing a face cut and still pale, he declined to comment on why the motors went dead.

Survivors varied at many points in their recital of what happened to the three who were lost, but the heroism of four persons—Richardson, Radio Operator Patrick Chapman, Mrs. Edna Watson of Bermuda, a passenger, and Robert Spence, a steward—stood out in most accounts.

Spence was the third victim. The other survivors were Miss Nellie Tucker Smith of Bermuda and Charles Talbot of Brookline, Mass., passengers, and David Williams, the second steward.

Noakes, who was standing when the plane crashed, received a severe head injury. Spence, apparently internally injured, tried vainly to keep him afloat after helping other passengers from the plane and warning them to grab lifeboats.

Mrs. Watson for long periods supported Captain Alderson, who lapsed into unconsciousness and became semi-delirious.

"Mr. Noakes, who seemed to be badly hurt, held onto me and then I lost him somehow after a while," First Officer Richardson said. "I don't know what became of him."

"Spence was with me when he died of exposure. He also seemed to be injured. I don't know how long it was after we landed in the water that Spence died."

Skating Rink Hit By Fire; Boy Dies

GREENVILLE, Jan. 24—Authorities today sought the origin of a fire which took the life of a 12-year-old boy and destroyed "Skate-land," a roller skating rink.

Witnesses said Richard Marshall, the victim, ran from the wooden structure when the flames started and then reentered the building, apparently to recover his overcoat. Firemen found his body in the ruins of the cloakroom.

Eighty other patrons fled to safety. Alfred Maher, the owner, estimated damage at $25,000.

Carr Resigns Post With Highway Dept.

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—Highway Director Robert S. Beighler said today he would withdraw charges against J. Matthew Carr as the result of Carr's resignation from the $3,000-a-year post of personnel director in the roads department.

Carr's resignation late yesterday was accepted by Beighler and became effective immediately. No successor has been named.

Beighler filed charges Friday with the state civil service commission, accusing Carr of ordering destruction of personnel records in the Columbus office and of soliciting classified workers for political campaign contributions.

Beighler, who has dismissed more than 1,500 highway department employees since taking office, suspended Carr last week when the latter refused to quit and indicated he would fight removal attempts. The ouster charges followed.

As the economy program of Gov. John W. Bricker, which has resulted in the removal of more than 2,000 state employees in two weeks, continued, John T. Brown, state director of agriculture, estimated at $73,280 a year the saving effected by his department through recent dismissal of 52 employees.

Brown said the savings resulted from removal of employees not needed, and the consolidation of related functions which "eliminated overlapping without impairing service."

Damascus Minister At Nazarene Rally

Rev. Ronald Smith, pastor of the Damascus Methodist Episcopal church, will be guest speaker at a revival service at 7:30 tonight at the Church of the Nazarene.

The service is one of a special series which is being conducted nightly this week at the church.

Rev. Ralph Carmany, pastor of the Evangelical church at Calla, delivered the sermon last night, using as his subject, "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

"There is only one way for men to prepare," Rev. Carmany declared, "and that is the way the Lord, himself, planned. That way is repentance and belief in the Lord, Jesus Christ."
